RONPAKU candidates are to prepare Forms 2 and 3 and send them to their prospective Japanese advisor. Then, the advisor is to fill out Form 1 and submit it with all the other forms to JSPS through his/her university.

(1) Forms

Form No.	Form Name	Person who prepares the form (How to prepare)

Form 2	Application Form 2	RONPAKU candidate
Form 3	Letter of Recommendation 1	RONPAKU candidate's home advisor and the president of his/her affiliated university/research institution

The steps for applying differ based on the candidates' affiliated institution in their home country.

Type A. Those whose home institution comes under the jurisdiction of a JSPS nominating organization listed in the accompanying table MUST contact that nominating organization to be nominated to JSPS. JSPS will use a list of nominees submitted by each nominating organization to confirm whether RONPAKU candidates are recommended.

Type B. Those whose home institution does NOT come under such jurisdiction are not required to contact any nominating organization.

(2) Steps to apply

Step 1: Eligible researchers wishing to receive a RONPAKU fellowship must contact a prospective Japanese advisor and discuss applying for the program with him/her.

Step 2: RONPAKU candidates must fill in Form 2.

Step 3: A. RONPAKU candidates whose home institution comes under the jurisdiction of a JSPS nominating organization must contact that organization in their home country (listed in accompanying table) to be nominated to JSPS.

B. RONPAKU candidates whose home institution does NOT come under such jurisdiction are not required to contact any nominating organization.

Step 4: RONPAKU candidates must have Form 3 filled out by their home institution. After completing Form 2, they are to submit the application package (Forms 2 and 3) to their prospective Japanese advisor.

10. Additional Point regarding Application Form 1

When preparing their applications, prospective Japanese advisors who are currently involved in a JSPS international exchange activities or project or who have been within the past 5 years are required to describe the results or anticipated results of that activity and any connection it has with making this nomination under the RONPAKU Program.

11. Selection and Notification of Results

(1) Selection process

Screening is conducted by JSPS's selection committee based on the three criteria listed below.

Selection Criteria

- (i) Based on their record of scientific results (e.g., publication of international journals, record of awards), candidates must be seen as "mature" researchers.
- (ii) The candidate's research proposal should be suited to pursuing a PhD degree through submission of a dissertation without matriculating a doctoral course. The feasibility should be very high that the candidate will obtain a PhD degree within a maximum of 3 years.
- (iii) The Japanese advisor must be suitable for supervising the candidate's research; sufficient advance communication must have been carried out between the advisor and the candidate; the research supervision plan must be well-prepared and specific.

 Research plans that require approval processing within the affiliated institution

Judgments regarding handling are required when the implementation of a research plan includes such aspects as the need for a counterpart's consent or collaboration, for handling personal information, for taking bio-ethics or safety measures, or other researcher aspects that require processing based on laws or regulations. Specific examples of such research would be questionnaire or interview surveys that include private information, surveys of cultural properties either in or outside Japan, the use of donated specimens, analyses of the human genome, genetic recombination experiments, and animal experiments. That is, surveys, research or experiments that require approval by an information-protection committee or ethics committee in or outside the host institution.

(2) Notification of selection results

- a. Notification of the selection results will be made in writing through the head of the applying institution to RONPAKU candidates by the end of January 2013.
- b. Regarding unsuccessful candidates, their Japanese advisors will receive a notice of their approximate ranking among all the applicants.

Non-selected applicants will be ranked in the following three tiers.

Non-selected A (upper tier)

Non-selected B (middle tier)

Non-selected C (lower tier)

All notifications will be made via sealed letter.

12. Supervision of Research

- (1) Over the period of their tenure (up to three years), RONPAKU fellows will visit a Japanese university to conduct research under the supervision of a Japanese advisor based on a visit plan approved by JSPS. No maximum is set on the number of times or length of periods of their stays within the limits of total funding for each fiscal year. However, the funding may not be used for travel to third countries.
- (2) When deemed necessary, the Japanese advisor may visit the RONPAKU fellow's home university or research institution to supervise his/her research based on a visit plan approved by JSPS. No maximum is set on the number of times or length of periods of their stays within the limits of total funding for each fiscal year. However, the funding may not be used for travel to third countries.
- (3) Travel plans should be made so that the combined days of visits by the fellow and his/her advisor is at least 30 days during a fiscal year.
- (4) At the end of each fiscal year, JSPS evaluates each fellow's research progress based on a report submitted by their Japanese advisors, and notifies the fellow (via the nominating organization) of its decision on whether to continue the fellowship in the following fiscal year.
- (5) When considered necessary to advance the fellow's research, the Japanese advisor may, with JSPS's approval, appoint Japanese co-advisor(s), who is to be a full-time researcher at the university (or equivalently qualified person). The co-advisor(s) is to cooperate in supervising the dissertation research of the fellow and may, when deemed necessary, visit the fellow's home institution in place of the Japanese advisor.

13. Obligations of the RONPAKU Fellow

RONPAKU fellows should bear the following three points in mind. After selection, they will be expected to observe the regulations and procedures stipulated in the "PROCEDURES AND PROVISIONS FOR RONPAKU FELLOWS UNDER THE JSPS RONPAKU (DISSERTATION PhD) PROGRAM." About the Proper Use of Competitive and Other Funds

June, 2012

International Program Department
Japan Society for the Promotion of Science

Based on the Guidelines for Managing and Auditing Public Research funds at Research Institutions (Implementation Criteria) established by the Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology (MEXT) on 15 February 2007, the following notice is issued with regard to all publicly solicited funding programs under the jurisdiction of JSPS's International Program Department.

1. Eliminating Duplication and Over-Concentration of Funding

(1) Measures against irrational duplication of funding

If researchers receive or are scheduled to receive competitive or other funding for essentially the same research content from government agencies or independent administrative institutions, their application for JSPS funding may be rejected, or their funding authorization cancelled, or the amount of their funding reduced.

This measure is not meant to limit researchers' options to respond to calls for grant applications or to apply for funding under other competitive funding systems when applying for a JSPS grant. In such cases, however, researchers whose applications have been accepted for other funding are to report it right away to the competent department of JSPS. (If they should fail to do so, the JSPS funding authorization may be cancelled.)

(2) Measures against over-concentration of funding

Even when the research content covered under a JSPS-issued grant and that covered under a grant from another competitive funding system differ, if it is judged that the funding allocated to the researcher(s) is not being used efficiently and/or effectively, the JSPS funding may be terminated or reduced.

If a researcher(s) applies and is accepted for other competitive research funding after having submitted an application for a JSPS grant, and if such funding was not noted in the JSPS grant application, s/he is to report it right away to the competent department of JSPS. (If the researcher(s) should fail to do so, the JSPS funding authorization may be cancelled.)

2. Measures Against Misuse of Competitive and Other Public Research Funds

Based on JSPS's "FY2008 Regulations for handling Misuse of Competitive and Other Funds," to properly administer and manage the use of competitive and other public research funds and to prevent their misuse, JSPS's International Program Department is mandated to take the following punitive measures against researchers who are found to have misused¹ funding provided under JSPS's publicly solicited programs.

Note 1: Misuse of funds is defined as using competitive or other public funds in a way that does not conform to the purpose of their disbursement or that is in violation of the grant agreement, or to have obtained such funds through false statements or other improper means.

(1) The grant may be terminated and/or part or all of the already-disbursed funds made to be refunded.

(2) The researcher(s) in violation may not be allowed to apply for grants as the representative of a research project, or the application for such a project may not be accepted unless the subject researcher(s) name(s) are removed from the roster of project participants.

(3) The researcher(s) in violation may be excluded from applying for competitive and other public funding under any JSPS-administered program for a set period of time.

When any of the above punitive measures is taken, related information shall as a rule immediately be posted for public access. Such information is to include the names and affiliations of the persons found guilty of the violation, the content of the measures taken against them, the name of the subject funding systems, the total amount of funding disbursed, the nature of the violation, and the results of the investigative report issued by the competent research organization.

3. Measures Against Misconduct in Research Activities

Based on JSPS's "FY2008 Regulations for handling Misuse of Competitive and Other Funds," to strictly enforce the proper conduct of research activities, JSPS's International Program Department is mandated to take the following punitive measures against researchers whose conduct is found to be improper² in conducting research under JSPS's publicly solicited programs.

Note 2: Improper conduct is defined as including data in the research results that were obtained by such means as falsification, fabrication or plagiarism.

- (1) The grant may be terminated and/or part or all of the already-disbursed funds made to be refunded.
- (2) The researcher(s) in violation may not be allowed to apply for grants as the representative of a research project, or the application for such a project may not be accepted unless the subject researcher(s) name(s) are removed from the roster of project participants.
- (3) The researcher(s) in violation may be excluded from applying for competitive and other public funding

When any of the above punitive measures is taken, related information shall as a rule immediately be posted for public access. Such information is to include the names and affiliations of the persons found guilty of the violation, the content of the measures taken against them, the name of the subject funding systems, the total amount of funding disbursed, the nature of the violation, and the results of the investigative report issued by the competent research organization.

4. Treatment of Violations of Related Laws and Regulations

If the context of grant application documents is found to be falsified or the implementation of the research itself is found to be in violation of pertinent laws, regulations and/or guidelines, JSPS will not provide funding for the subject research activity and/or will cancel its funding authorization.
